

Congree Anytime – Congree for All Applications

■ Consistent Communication

Uniform wording, the use of corporate language, and content marketing are aspects that more and more enterprises pay attention to. However, texts are usually created in various departments by a wide range of different users.

Congree Anytime can be used everywhere to check compliance with writing rules and correct use of terminology throughout the enterprise. By defining target group-specific rule sets, the Language Check can be used by all user groups for optimum authoring assistance.

- » Check for correct use of corporate terminology
- » Check for compliance with corporate writing rules
- » Target-group oriented check
- » Editor independence due to use of the Windows clipboard
- » Direct feedback on the text quality

■ Check via Windows Clipboard

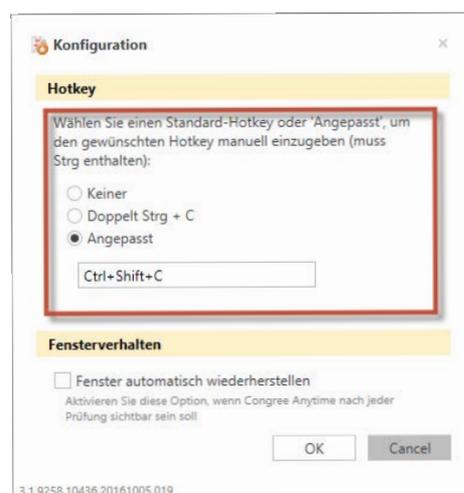

Congree Anytime enables the checking of text from any application, regardless of whether a Congree plugin is available or not. The Authoring Assistance Tool is thus also available for PDF files, browsers, tools for managing master data, CAD systems, image processing tools, etc.

Congree runs in the notification area of Windows and waits for the submission of selected text for analysis.

In the Congree Control Center, you can configure how text is to be analyzed in Anytime and in the other plugins. This concept ensures a centrally controlled quality check.

The keyboard shortcut for sending text to Congree Anytime can also be selected freely.

Congree Anytime – Congree for All Applications

■ Direct Feedback via Color Indicator

The transmitted text is immediately checked by Congree Anytime. The result of the check is immediately displayed in the Windows notification area. The color indicator provides advance visual information on the text quality.

The text meets the company's quality standards in the best way possible.

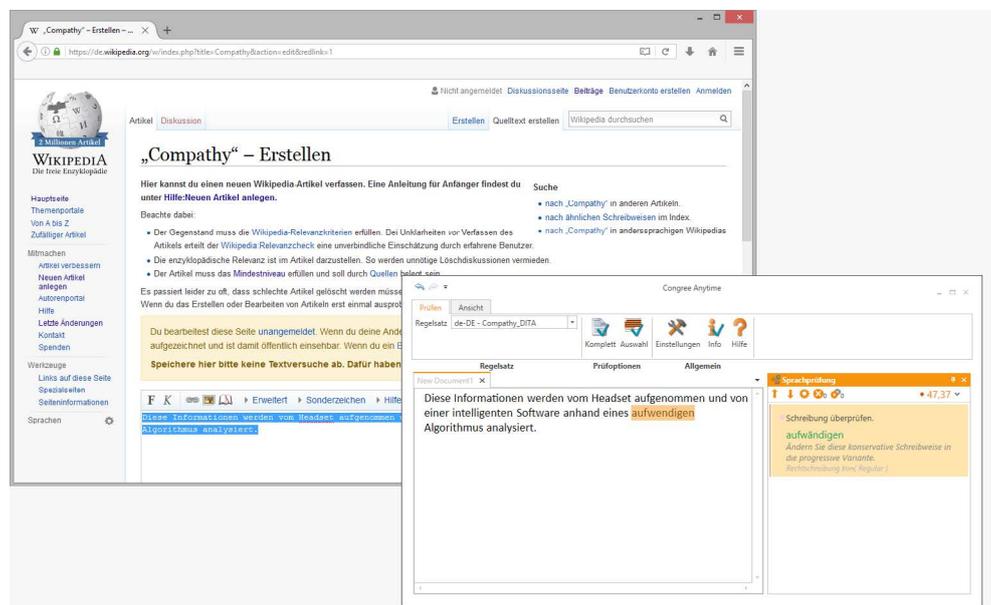

The text quality is acceptable.

The text contains unacceptable problems.

Optionally, the user interface of the Congree Anytime editor can be started in order to view the detailed analysis. By way of a compact editor, the text can be optimized if necessary and be returned to the clipboard.

In this way, the consistent use of terminology and language can be ensured regardless of the editor used.

■ Contact

Do you have any questions concerning the software or would like to get a live demonstration?

Send an e-mail to info@congree.com

congree